

Instructions

You will now be asked to complete various questionnaires. Please read each question carefully, and don't hesitate to take breaks in-between them.

Please note that various checks will be performed to ensure the validity of the data.

We are aware that answering these questionnaires might feel long and repetitive, but having similar questions is necessary to ensure the validity of the results (we expect similar questions to be related, and opposite questions to be inversely related).

Let's start